Headline:
Heavy rain at times over the weekend, improving next week.

Today:
Starting damp in places, and while probably on the cloudy side throughout, some warm sunny intervals may develop later, with these more likely in the south and east. Winds light everywhere and feeling warm in sunnier spells. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloud thickening again with rain spreading in from the west, heavy at times over the hills which will be shrouded in fog. A mild night with light winds everywhere. Minimum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Saturday:
Cloudy with fog over the hills and long periods of rain, which will turn heavy at times. Light winds. Rain turning showery through the afternoon, perhaps thundery in places. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Sunday will be mostly cloudy, with scattered showers perhaps heavy and thundery further north. Monday and Tuesday drier and warmer. Brighter as well, with long sunny spells on Tuesday.
